

Power your business with accurate course information

You play an important role in guiding international students through complex course decisions. But how good is the information you use to provide that advice?

Like many other international education agents, you may be searching CRICOS information, navigating different university websites, referencing brochures – or your agency may even have a dedicated team collecting information to develop your own database.

All these different data sources can lead to wasted time, cost and confusion.

With StudyLink Connect, there's a simpler solution. Our course data covers more than 4,000 institutions globally.

Why use StudyLink's course data?

Save time

- Spend less time collecting, checking and updating course details for your counsellors.
- Provide your team with easy access to the information they need, when they need it.

Reduce risk of error

- We use a combination of sophisticated technology and regular manual checks to ensure our information is current and correct. We don't just scrape websites for course data.
- We also make it simple for our large network of users to provide feedback, so we can swiftly catch and resolve any inaccuracies.

Power your digital applications

- With our raw data package, you can fully integrate StudyLink's course data with your student-facing and backend systems to create seamless course search and comparison tools, as well as many other applications.
- Tailor our data to your partner providers, and customise how frequently you receive data updates.
- If your partner provider isn't listed, we can research and add them.
